Help us save time, to save lives.

Save time, save lives

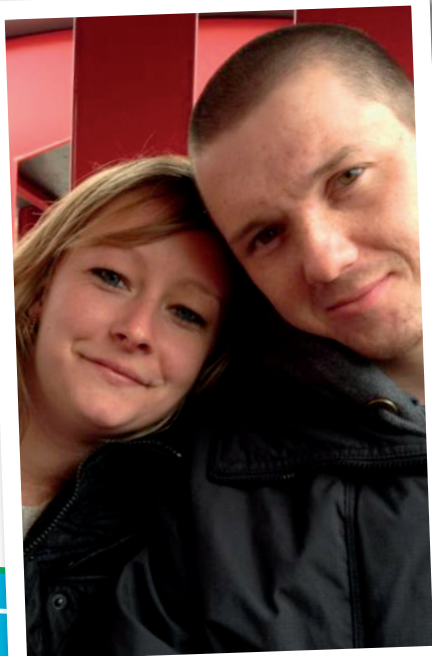

Getting patients to hospital quickly in an emergency is vital. Valuable seconds can make all the difference.

Lives are saved every day at the East Midlands Major Trauma Centre at Queen's Medical Centre. You never know when you or someone close to you might be the one in need. While road ambulances will deliver you into the safe hands of those ready to save your life, an air ambulance will save valuable extra time. There are no traffic jams in the air.

Queen's Medical Centre is home to the East Midlands Major Trauma Centre where the best talent and expertise has already saved many lives.

We want to save more lives

Currently there is no dedicated landing pad for emergency patients, with helicopters having to land close by and patients complete their journey to hospital by road, taking up to 20 minutes.

Michaela with her partner, Paul.

A life saved...

Michaela, from Lincolnshire, was airlifted to Queen's Medical Centre with multiple injuries after a car accident. She had been sitting in the front passenger seat and took the worst of the impact.

“ I had broken bones and internal injuries and they told my family I might not survive. You don't think about the importance of time until something like this happens to you, every minute's precious. If the helicopter hadn't been available I don't think I'd have made it to hospital alive. ”

Michaela is recovering.

With your help we can save more lives.

Our Saving Lives Helipad Appeal is raising £3m to build a helipad at East Midlands Major Trauma Centre. This will get the most seriously injured trauma patients from across the region directly to our Major Trauma Centre, where specialist teams are available 24/7, to save lives.

Major trauma could happen to anyone, anytime

“ Knowing there is 24/7, fast access to the best talent and expertise from a specialist team of clinicians delivering a service nationally recognised as excellent, brings the security of knowing that the best possible treatment and care is just minutes away. Please help us save lives. ”
